

John...Denver Seminary

One of the greatest benefits of working with Student Ministries Inc. has been the ability to participate in a ministry while attending school. It offers me the opportunity to engage in "hands on" ministry -- work that I am interested in and called to by the Lord -- while extending me the freedom and flexibility to attend class at the same time. Many of my classmates are trying to balance work and school, and often they work in jobs that are not in any way connected to their calling as pastors.

Thanks to SMI, I get the best of both worlds – I build on ministry experience in the church, and still have time to hit the books.
