

Wallace... Dallas Theological Seminary

SMI has been a great experience for two reasons:

First, getting others involved in your life is really a blessing (for both parties really). The idea that the Body is supporting your ministry as well as reaping the blessings that come along with successful ministry and the personal success that we have in other areas of our lives is neat to see in action. We are living a life of faith with others, and without the Christian community it's not possible. Naturally, ministry partners get an update from us regularly and therefore know what's going on with us in all aspects of our life and ministry, and they enjoy that.

Second, it has been a wonderful experience to have the staff of SMI as mentors throughout our fundraising journey. They have been very encouraging in such times when we needed the supportive words to keep on keeping on. Our faith has grown to see how God truly provides on time every time, even at the last minute. Every believer should have this experience to see God work in such a way. The knowledge that I have gained from fundraising is of great value to me now and for future circumstances. SMI's program is an excellent way to learn and to put into practice the lessons of Kingdom giving.

Thanks SMI,
The Jacksons